

In the Chapter about Pebmarsh New Wood, I make reference to a “paper mache” fuel tank exploding directly over the Munitions

This picture take at Wormingford Airfield in 1944, with a stack of these empty non-metallic fuel tanks

